Beef Farm - Wildlife - Wildlife on the pond

This farm has its very own bird sanctuary. This area used to be a muddy field which never dried out. Grazing cattle were making it worse and it's not healthy for them to walk around in mud as they can get a disease called foot rot. Diggers came and dug the pond and within two weeks it was full of water. Now birds such as mallard, teal, buick swans, cormorants, wigeons and buzzards regularly feed there. Minnows, trout and otters also live in the pond.
