

Transcription:

Beef Farm - Crops - What they are used for

The crops are grown to make food for humans and animals. Wheat is used to make whisky, flour and fish food. The flour can be used for cakes and bread. Different types of wheat are grown for different purposes. David explains that some of the wheat is going to be used for fish food. The grains are a certain weight and will fall down through the water at a certain rate allowing the fish to eat it.